

The outputs will be hotspots and bright spots of China land degradation derived of the analysis of 10 years NDVI based on long terms database of China desertification monitoring and China LADA project. The objectives of output will be used as identifying the landscape and land use suitable for assessing and reviewing SLM best practices in national and local level. The product of output will be the maps of hot spots and bright spots map of land degradation based on NDVI analysis.

This had been finished.

